In 2026, the Russian Space Forum will become the centrepiece of Space Week and bring together representatives of the federal government, state corporations, the scientific community, and private enterprises to come up with strategic solutions for the development of outer space.

Forum participants will address a wide spectrum of issues, ranging from the advancement of the lunar programme to the integration of space technologies into everyday life and key economic sectors.

The Forum's business programme is structured around five core tracks:

Breakthrough Frontiers: Science, the Moon, and Deep Space

Human Capital: Professions, Lifestyle, and Popularization

Space for Earth: Technologies Here and Now

The Near-Earth Economy

International Cooperation

SPORTS PROGRAMME

GALA ICE HOCKEY MATCH AS PART OF THE RUSSIAN SPACE FORUM

The gala match will bring together cosmonauts, hockey stars, and representatives of government and business.

Ice hockey has historically been one of the most favourite sports among cosmonauts. At various times, Yuri Gagarin and other space explorers have taken to the ice. The Forum's gala match will feature Yuri Lonchakov and Sergey Zalyotin, whose total time spent in orbit amounts to nearly 300 days. The match will also bring together prominent political figures, top executives of leading companies, representatives of the space industry, and celebrated hockey stars.

The teams will be reinforced by two-time Olympic champion Vyacheslav Fetisov, Olympic champions Valeri Kamensky and Andrei Kovalenko, President of the Kontinental Hockey League and two-time World Champion Alexey Morozov, First Vice President of the Russian Ice Hockey Federation Roman Rotenberg, as well as other distinguished representatives of Russian ice hockey.

The ceremonial puck drop will be performed by Pavel Bure, widely known as the 'Russian Rocket'. One of the honorary guests of the 'space' match will be entrepreneur and blogger Errol Musk, father of Elon Musk, founder of SpaceX. The Gagarin Cup, the main trophy of the Kontinental Hockey League, will be presented at the gala match.

The event is closed to the public, access to the venue is by invitation only.

EXHIBITION

'TRAVELING AROUND RUSSIA' EXHIBITION

The 'Traveling around Russia' exhibition offers a unique opportunity for visitors to travel from Vladivostok to Kaliningrad without ever leaving Moscow. The 3,000-square-metre exhibition space features dozens of interactive exhibits showcasing the cultural and scientific achievements of all of Russia's federal districts, as well as their natural beauty.

The exhibits of the Far East and Siberia will transport you to a world of natural wonders. Here you can experience the grandeur of the taiga and admire the beauty of the legendary Lake Baikal. Special attention is paid to modern science projects, such as the neutrino observatory – a research complex that reveals the secrets of cosmic particles.

The Ural Federal District will impress anyone with a penchant for minerals and precious stones. Together with the Mistress of the Copper Mountain, you will immerse yourself in the atmosphere of the Ural mines, learn about the deposits of emeralds, amethysts, topazes and other gemstones, and get a closer look at the country's largest operating marble quarry.

The Volga Federal district will introduce you to digital breakthroughs and Innopolis – one of the country's largest IT clusters. The focus of the North Caucasus Federal District's exhibit will be its nature reserves, unique liana forests, investment projects, and the burgeoning health and wellness tourism sector. You can also stand beneath the dome of the Russian Academy of Sciences' Astrophysical Observatory and learn about the Caucasus' legend of the sun and moon.

'GEOGRAPHY LESSONS' EXHIBITION

The 'Geography Lessons' exhibition at the National Centre Russia is the first to bring the unique cartographic treasures of the country's leading repository together in a single collection, featuring works from the Russian State Library, the Russian Geographical Society, and Ministry of Defence archives, as well as from leading universities and research centres.

You are invited on a true journey through the centuries: from ancient scrolls to digital maps, from the first geographical discoveries to the exploration of space. Many of the exhibits have never left storage before, and now you have the chance to see them with your own eyes.

The exhibition is structured like an epic story about Russia and comprises eight themed halls. Visitors are encouraged to view the familiar through a new lens: behind the dry outlines on the maps lie the stories of people, expeditions, battles, and scientific breakthroughs.

Each hall features animated shorts about great discoveries, the exploration of new territories, battles, and scientific developments. The videos were created using modern technology and bring the past to life before your very eyes.
